The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The rejection of "substituted" recited in claim 7 is maintained. Applicant states that the specification discloses vinyl aromatic substituents such as α -methylstyrene, p-methylstyrene and p-chlorostyrene. The insertion of "methyl or chloro" before "substituted" is suggested since said "substituted" encompasses unlimited variations not disclosed in the specification.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Katayama et al (US 6,111,016).

Rejection is maintained for reason of record and following response.

The instantly recited "containing" which is same as "comprising" permits the presence other component even in a major amount. Thus, the epoxidized block copolymer still meets the instant invention. Also, the comparison must be based on the closest prior art, and not applicant's own choice. The nature of components used in working and comparative examples such as NAPVIS, Poly 10, Admoll D0, Oppanol B200, Royaltuf 372 and WX270, is not taught and thus any unexpected result cannot be ascertained. Besides, said examples contain a major amount of polycarbonate or polyamdie not claimed and thus have little probative value. The presence of any amount of processing aids and AES resin in the polycarbonate composition of Katayama et al would yield "Δsoft phase" being increased since the polycarbonate has a higher Tg than said processing aids and AES.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Katayama et al (US 6,111,016) in view of Dalal et al (US 5,534,379), Nodera (US 6,348,527) or WO 02/32993.

Rejection is maintained for reason of record and above.

The table on page 16 with respect to Example 1 is objected since the amount for Maize oil is missing.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
